NORTH HONSHUENEMY AIR ATTACK ON CARRIERS IS SMOTHERED

BY MURLIN SPENCER

Guam, Friday, Aug. 10 (AP)—American and British carrier planes 1,500 strong spread fiery ruin across the northern half of Honshu today for the second consecutive day, and Admiral Nimitz announced that battleships, cruisers and destroyers of the Allied force inflicted "considerable damage" on the steel city of Kamaishi yesterday afternoon.

Nimitz gave no details of today's air strikes, saying only that they were renewed at dawn against military targets.

Steel Mills Shelled
The shelling of Kamaishi by Admiral Halsey's heavy Third Fleet ships and light forces of the British Pacific fleet was described officially by Nimitz as "a heavy naval bombardment."

While the big ships were boldly steaming up and down opposite Kamaishi and pouring their tons

MORE FOR TOKYO
Guam, Friday, Aug. 10 (AP)—Seventy Superfortresses dropped heavy demolition bombs on the Tokyo arsenal this morning, General Spaatz announced today.

The Marianas-based planes were escorted by Mustangs and Thunderbolts from Iwo Jima.

Spaatz also reported that 90 Superfortresses dropped heavy demolition bombs early this morning on the Nippon Oil Refinery plant at Amagasaki. They met slight enemy interception and began to intensify anti-aircraft fire.

of shells into its steel mills, American destroyers pounced upon and sank a small enemy freighter-transport and three other small vessels offshore.

The Japanese, who themselves had first reported the shelling, replied only with light anti-aircraft fire which Nimitz said caused no casualties to the American or British forces.

Associated Press correspondents with the fleet reported that the carrier attacks yesterday knocked out scores of planes which the enemy had been unable to hide quickly enough, and set fire to many ground installations.

Most of the planes destroyed were parked on the ground, but the Japanese did manage a small-scale raid on the fleet. It was smothered promptly, two planes being shot down before they got within sight of the ships and two others being downed by anti-aircraft fire.

This was the first enemy air effort against the fleet since the night surface force won control of Japan's home seas a month ago.

Victory Ship Torpedoed

Nimitz also announced one other offensive effort by the enemy, the torpedoing of an American Victory ship at Ie Shima near Okinawa on July 27. The aerial torpedo blew a hole in the ship's side but caused no casualties and did not interfere with unloading.

Over the mainland the swarms of carrier bombers and fighters ranged almost unopposed, raining exploding steel, rockets and bullets on air dromes, railways, ship-

President Outlines
Speedy Removal Of Wartime Controls

Washington, Aug. 9 (AP)—President Truman today called for removal of wartime production controls as soon as possible to speed development of a healthy national peacetime economy.

He made it clear at the same time, however, that the time has not yet come when American business can be freed of all restrictions.

In a letter to Chairman J. A. Krug of the War Production Board, Mr. Truman outlined a five-point program for orderly reconversion of industry from munitions to consumer goods manufacture. This was its theme: "Every opportunity must be given to private business to exercise its ingenuity and forcefulness in speeding resumption of civilian production, subject to war needs."

But he said that in order to achieve unprecedented civilian production it is necessary that WPB "continue for the present some of the effective measures it adopted to achieve unprecedented war production."

The president requested that WPB follow this program:

1. A vigorous drive to expand production of materials in short supply, to meet both military and civilian requirements.

2. Limitations of manufacture of products which would require materials which are in scarce supply.

3. Broad and effective control of materials stockpiles to prevent "speculative hoarding" that would "endanger our stabilization program."

4. Provision of priority assistance to break production bottlenecks that might impede reconversion.

5. Allocation of scarce materials for low-priced consumer goods essential to the continued success of the stabilization program."

SAILORS STRIP
NORGE FACTORYStrike - Idle Machinery
Moved From Chicago
To Detroit

Muskegon, Mich., Aug. 9 (AP)—Sailors from Chicago, mostly veterans of overseas service awaiting reassignment to the Pacific, today began removing machinery from the strike-bound plant of the Norge machine products division of the Borg-Warner Corp.

The plant was closed 16 days ago when 400 workers, members of the United Automobile Workers (AFL), walked out in a dispute over a peacetime wage rate.

The machinery will be shipped to Detroit where it will be reassembled for production of gun mounts.

Lt. Cmdr. E. H. Ocker, resident inspector of Navy material, who is in charge of the removal, said the Navy men were "not very pleased about it." Earlier efforts to get idle workers to remove the machines failed.

The Regional War Labor Board said a hearing on the dispute would be conducted when the men resumed work.

Critical Shortages
Of Basic Foodstuffs
Confronting Europe

London, Aug. 9 (AP)—The United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration was told today that critical shortages of many basic foodstuffs would continue through the first half of next year and that Europe's 1945-46 crop outlook "can only be viewed with grave misgivings."

In a report to the third conference of UNRRA, the administration combined food board asserted the continental harvest in all likelihood will be 10 to 15 per cent short of the 1944 yield.

The board, which controls distribution of food stocks on the basis of availability, said international allocation of scarce commodities would have to continue until the defeat of Japan to prevent "wild inflation of prices."

Stettinius Named
On United Nations
Organizing Group

Washington, Aug. 9 (AP)—Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., was appointed today as the United States representative on the preparatory commission of the United Nations organization. He has the rank of ambassador.

President Truman announced the appointment which had been expected ever since Stettinius guided the American delegation's work in the writing of the 50-nation treaty at San Francisco for the peace of the future.

Yanks And Chinese
Help Block Enemy
Off In Manchuria

BY SPENCER MOOSA

Chungking, Aug. 9 (AP)—U. S. planes and Chinese paratroopers striking as long as a month ago in foreknowledge of Russia's plunge against the Japanese—already have "seriously interfered" with the movement of enemy forces northward in China toward the now-fading Manchurian front, Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer asserted today.

The U. S. 14th Air Force for a month has been hammering at Japanese withdrawal routes from south-central China, the general commanding American forces in China declared.

American-trained Chinese parachute troops and commandos also have done "splendid work" in blocking the Japanese movement and possible transfer of his forces northward, Wedemeyer declared.

Chinese parachute forces achieving complete surprise in a dawn drop recently between Kweilin and Hangyang, a big rail hub, and caused great confusion and heavy casualties among the enemy, he said.

It was understood that high American officers have known since the Teheran conference that Russia would enter the Pacific conflict, and that detailed plans already had been perfected for smooth coordination of air, ground and sea operations.

It was disclosed authoritatively that Korea is included in the China theater along with China proper.

DETROIT LABOR
PEACE DELAYEDSettlements In Series
Of Disputes Fail
To Materialize

Detroit, Aug. 9 (AP)—Awaited settlements in a series of labor disputes in the Detroit area failed to materialize today.

A new work stoppage meanwhile developed, affecting pattern makers in half a dozen cities. An estimated 1,100 AFL men were involved.

In the Detroit area, where 15,000 men were affected, government agencies continued efforts to secure settlements in the lumber yards dispute and at the Detroit Steel Products Company and the Federal Mogul Corp.

Walkouts of pattern makers in 60 Detroit shops and in Bay City, Kalamazoo, Saginaw and Mt. Clemens followed upon refusal of the regional War Labor Board to grant a wage increase.

A spokesman for strikers here said the pattern makers union and the managements had jointly requested a 10 cents an hour increase from the base $1.80. The men make patterns for B-29 aircraft parts and for tank and gun parts.

President Truman announced the appointment which had been expected ever since Stettinius guided the American delegation's work in the writing of the 50-nation treaty at San Francisco for the peace of the future.

Manchuria, and Indo-China.

The power of the 14th Air Force, supplemented by the 10th Air Force being transferred from India, is expected to be thrown into attempts to prevent the Japanese from pulling troops south of the Yellow and Yangtze rivers into northern areas menaced by the "second front" opened on the Asiatic mainland by the Russians.

Maj. Gen. Charles B. Stone 3rd, have been appointed commander of the 14th Air Force, succeeding Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault, who recently resigned, it was disclosed today.

Meanwhile, the Chinese high command announced its troops had scored a new advance in a sweep along the Hunan-Kwangsi railroad toward the rail city of Chuanhsien, 70 miles northeast of recaptured Kweilin. The extent of their gain on Wednesday was not disclosed.

MACKINAC ISLE
BANISHES FLIESOld Flytraps Burned In Ceremony; Results Of
New DDT Praised

Mackinac Island, Mich., Aug. 9 (AP)—The extinction of the fly was celebrated here today.

In a public bonfire, lighted by Mayor Alan F. Sawyer, hundreds of old flytraps were burned. Coachmen who drove the island's famous surreys stowed away their horse nets.

For this the Army's insecticide DDT was responsible.

Representatives of the State Health Department who had carried on a controlled test program said DDT had worked excellently—that, in fact, for its effect on flies it was like the "atomic bomb."

The island in the Straits of Mackinac was selected for the experimental program in view of its horse population. There are no motorcars on the island; horses do all the transport.

Dr. William E. DeKleine, state health commissioner, and La Rue Miller, engineer in charge of the program, both praised DDT.

Miller said a cup of liquid concentrate DDT in a gallon of water makes sufficient spray to keep the average household free of flies and mosquitoes a full month.

The War Production Board, Miller said, is expected to release DDT in sufficient quantities this year for nationwide use by state health departments. By 1946, he said, it should be generally available for household use.

Taxi Strike Blamed
To Tire Shortages

Bogota, Colombia, Aug. 9 (AP)—Taxi drivers, staging a strike because of a tire shortage they blamed on the government, parked their vehicles on street car lines during the noon rush hour today and halted all traffic.

Attempts to move the cabs resulted in fistuffs. Drivers said the strike would be continued all day tomorrow if their demands for more tires are not met.

DUST COVERS
BOMBED RUINS OF NAGASAKIBULLSEYE SCORED ON WEST KYUSHU
SEAPORT CITY

Guam, Friday, Aug. 10 (AP)—Smoke and dust completely covered Nagasaki and rose to 20,000 feet three and one-half hours after Thursday's atomic bombing of that Japanese seaport.

General Spaatz, chief of the U. S. Strategic Air Forces, made this brief announcement after viewing reconnaissance photographs from the second use of the fantastic atomic bomb against the enemy. He said scattered fires were visible outside the smoke-obscured area.

There was no further word on the undoubtedly awesome fate that struck the western Kyushu city of 253,000 population.

The Japanese themselves were absolutely silent about results of the noon bombing, in which it was possible that more than one of the lethal packages was dropped.

Earlier, General Spaatz' headquarters had announced that results were "good."

Pamphlets Bring Warning

Tokyo radio, which admitted that the initial atomic bombing Monday at Hiroshima had destroyed "practically every living thing," let hour after hour pass without comment about Nagasaki.

The Japanese people were told, however, in millions of B-29 scattered pamphlets that "the awful fact (of the atomic bomb) is one for you to ponder and we solemnly assure you it is grimly accurate."

Spaatz awaited photographic evidence before making any further announcement on the Nagasaki attack. His communiqué said that it was "the second use of the atomic bomb" but did not make clear whether one, or more than one, of the terrible instruments of destruction had been dropped.

Nagasaki, chosen as the second target, is an industrial center and important port on the supply route through Korea to Manchuria, reported under invasion by Russia.

Capt. Arntzen Flies

Paris, Aug. 9 (AP)—The Army Transport Command's C-69 Constellation landed at Orley air field today after a flight of nine hours and 22 minutes from Stephenville, Newfoundland, a distance of 2,750 miles.

The big four-engine plane, which flew non-stop from New York to Paris Aug. 1 in the record time of 14 hours and 12 minutes, made its latest ocean hop at an average of 298 miles an hour.

Capt. Walter Arntzen, Escanaba, Mich., was one of the co-pilots.

Great Northern
Train Collision
Kills 25 To 40

Michigan, N. D., Aug. 9 (AP)—From 25 to 40 persons were killed in the observation car of the first section of the Great Northern railway's Empire Builder when the second section crashed into it here tonight.

Russell Dushinske, editor of the Devils Lake N. D. Journal, who was at the scene, said that many bodies, mostly service men, were visible in the car which was half telescoped and raised onto the top of the locomotive of the second train.

Dushinske said Great Northern railroad officials estimated the bodies could not be removed for another 12 hours as the mass of twisted steel must be cut apart with acetylene torches.

More than 40 persons were injured, Dushinske estimated, the most serious a sailor who suffered a broken neck.

Dushinske said ten men labored for more than one hour to remove a badly injured woman from the observation car only to have her die while being placed in an ambulance.

"Scenes of utter pandemonium ruled at the wreck scene," Dushinske said. "A soldier, holding a small child clawed vainly at the

Only Jap Surrender
Can Stop U.S. Atom
Bomb, Says Truman

Washington, Aug. 9 (AP)—President Truman urged Japanese civilians tonight "to leave industrial cities immediately and save themselves from destruction."

In a nationwide radio report on the Potsdam big three conference and the war in the Pacific, Mr. Truman said the Hiroshima attack was "only a warning of things to come," and added that unless the Japanese surrender, widespread atomic bombing of war industries is certain.

Saying this country and Great Britain realized the "tragic significance of the atomic bomb," the president in his prepared address went on:

"The world will note that the first atomic bomb was dropped on Hiroshima, a military base. That was because we wished in the first attack to avoid, insofar as possible, the killing of civilians."

"But that attack is only a warning of things to come. If Japan does not surrender, bombs will have to be dropped on war industries and, unfortunately, thousands of civilian lives will be lost. I urge Japanese civilians to leave industrial cities immediately, and save themselves from destruction."

Alternative Is Ruin

Mr. Truman gave no indication that the enemy had made any gestures, either since the advent of the terrible new weapon or the entry of Russia into the war, to end by capitulation the destruction of which he warned them.

Only surrender, he said, will stop the use of the new agency of demolition and the Japanese alternative is ruin.

In his first lengthy radio talk, Mr. Truman gave no indication when he expected the Japanese to quit, either through surrender or through force.

But he said the Soviet decision to declare war on Japan was only one of the secret military arrangements made at Potsdam.

"The Japs will soon learn some of the other military secrets agreed upon at Berlin," he asserted. "They will learn them first hand—and they will not like them."

Reports On Potsdam
The Chief executive devoted a large share of his address to an analysis of what was accomplished in his Potsdam conference with Premier Stalin and British Prime Minister Churchill and Attlee.

But he also touched at some length on the Pacific war and asserted that this government did not lightly undertake the production and use of the terrible atomic bomb.

"We have used it," he said, "in order to shorten the agony of war, in order to save the lives of thousands and thousands of young Americans."

"We shall continue to use it until we completely destroy Japan's power to make war. Only a Japanese surrender will stop us."

Britain and the United States, he said, do not intend to release the secret of history's most terrible weapon until means have been

Secret Weapon Will Be Used Against America, Says Broadcast

London, Friday, Aug. 10 (AP)—The Japanese radio in Singapore in a broadcast monitored by BBC said today that Japan has a weapon "similar to the atomic bomb" and will use it "to the utmost against United States military personnel."

The broadcast was not clear as to the exact nature of the purported weapon but said "Japan is fully aware of the true aspects of atomic energy" and "the Anglo-American nations * * * must have drawn on the result of Japanese researches."

"America has asked for it, now she will get it," said the English-language broadcast, beamed to Europe.

"It can be stated immediately and in definite terms that Japan does not intend to employ it after the pattern of American capital in the deliberate massacre of innocent civilians," the radio said. "But Japan is fully determined to use it to the utmost against United States military personnel."

MORE PORK ON WAY
Washington, Aug. 9 (AP)—Slightly more pork products for American dinner tables beginning August 12 was promised today by Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson.

Washington was swept by rumors that Japan would have an important announcement soon, that her surrender was imminent, that the world once more would be at peace within a matter of hours.

But the people in a position to know whether there might be some truth in them went calmly about their business. At the moment the flurry of reports reached their peak, Mr. Truman was at the station to welcome his wife back from a vacation at their Missouri home. And Secretary of State Byrnes was posing for pictures.

Yet everywhere in the capital there was hope, and even widespread expectation, that the Pacific enemy soon would recognize the futility of battling alone against the greatest array of military might ever assembled.

Upper Peninsula's Reconversion Job Viewed As Urgent
Lansing, Aug. 9 (AP)—Anticipated economic effect of reconversion on the Upper Peninsula will place a note of urgency on the State Planning Commission's meeting at Marquette Aug. 21 and 22, Governor Kelly reported today.

Discussion will center around application for an extension of a federal subsidy for copper mining, which will end Sept. 1, and attempts to speed up plans for new industries in the area to take up unemployment slack, the governor said.

The Upper Peninsula Technical and Industrial Advisory Committee will report on a survey to determine the 10 most important problems of the area.

SMASH OF 14
MILES MADE
BY RUSSIANSCONCRETE DEFENSES
PIERCED; BIG JAP
OUTPOST TAKEN

By The Associated Press

London, Aug. 9. — Mighty Russian invasion columns knifed into Manchuria in a great pincer and surged as deep as 14 miles into the stolen province from the east today, seizing Japanese outpost bastions and bursting through a concrete defense zone, the Soviets announced tonight.

The western front, meeting little resistance, captured Jin-Jin Sume. Maps show this to be a airport town 33 miles inside Manchuria from the border of outer Mongolia.

American Planes Help

(A BBC broadcast monitored by NBC in New York said the Tokyo radio had announced the Japanese were counter-attacking in Manchuria. The enemy statement did not say exactly where in Manchuria the reported counterattack was under way.)

The crack Siberian army, given the battle cry to "Settle an old score," smashed ahead on a wide front from the maritime provinces on the east to wild outer Mongolia on the west, Moscow's first communique of this 24-hour-old Far Eastern war declared.

The east-west prongs of the multiple pincers clamping upon Japan's Kwantung army were about 750 miles apart. The Russian assault had already been assisted by blows by U. S. planes and Chinese parachute troops aimed at choking off Japanese troop movements from China to the new battle area.

Rail Centers Bombed
Red bomber fleets ranged ahead, pounding enemy rail centers.

In a heavy blow from the west, the Soviets said they beat down "fierce enemy resistance" and captured the towns and railway stations of Lupin (Manchouli) and Chalainoerh, 15 miles farther southeast on the former Chinese eastern railway.

The heaviest fighting apparently raged in this area in the northern tip of a western bulge of Manchuria, where the Soviets declared they stormed and captured the Lalin-Hulun lake fortified area. Both Lupin and Chalainoerh are just inside Manchuria.

Some 120 miles farther south, other Russian forces springing from outer Mongolia punched into the Lake Bor area and captured Jin-Jin Sume and Hoshin Sume "without meeting any particular enemy resistance."

Quick Cleanup Indicated
Military maps place Jin-Jin Sume 33 miles inside Manchuria. This would represent the deepest Soviet plunge.

The Russian assaults, striking at numerous points along Manchuria's 2,000-mile frontier, threatened to cut off the northern half of Manchuria.

In Chungking, Lt.-Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer disclosed that the U. S. 14th air force—with foreknowledge that Generalissimo Stalin would unleash his Siberian war machine—had been hammering for a month at Japanese withdrawal routes.

LACK OF FOOD PERILS JAPAN Bomb Attacks Are Also Threatening Defeat To Nipponese

Washington—Lack of food and overbalance of bombs are likely to be the principal subjects of conversation among the common people of Japan from now on until their war lords accept the surrender terms as announced from Potsdam. Effective blockade of the home islands, by surface ships, submarines, airships and harbor mines, severely curtails any importation of food, and likewise the activities of the former Jap far-flung fishing fleets.

Rice, fish and other seafoods are the principal diet of the majority of Japanese in normal times. In 1939, Japan proper, which includes island possessions that can no longer help the homeland, produced over 13,000,000 tons of rice, and her fishing fleets brought in over $100,000,000 worth of fish, whale and other seafoods. She can still produce rice, but fishing is confined largely to coastal row-boat activities.

Japan has some 70,000,000 people to feed on her home islands. Much of their area is mountainous and not suitable for cultivation. The total area of Honshu, Hokkaido, Kyushu and Shikoku is about the same as the area of California, but these islands must maintain a population about half as great as that of the entire United States.

Rice is not the sole agricultural crop of Japan. Barley, wheat and potatoes are grown in considerable quantities. Other grains and food crops are grown in lesser amounts. Dairy products and meat are relatively scarce. In 1939, all of the then Japan had less than 2,000,000 head of cattle for all purposes, slightly over 1,100,000 hogs, and a number of sheep so small that they were of very slight importance either for wool or meat.

With the mining by Superfortresses of the principal ports of Japan and Korea, coupled with the activities of submarines, surface naval vessels and bombing airplanes, the Japanese lose the quantities of food which were shipped from northern China, Manchuria and Korea across the East China sea and the Japan sea. Included were rice, wheat, barley, potatoes and other foods, and also textile fibers for clothing.

With the blockade of shipping ports on Korea and the northern Chinese coast and the naval and airplane activities on the two seas mentioned, and in the straits of Korea and Tushima between Korea and Japan, the Nipponese lose the coal and iron ores from Manchuria and Korea, and the war equipment manufactured in these two controlled countries. They also lose effective contact between the armed forces on the home islands and those on the Asiatic mainland.

drawal routes from south and south central China to the north. These blows, he asserted, "seriously interfered" with enemy movements toward the Manchurian zone.

American-trained Chinese parachute troops, he added, also have been active in disrupting Japanese withdrawal movements.

The overall picture of battle strategy on the Asiatic mainland began to assume proportions indicating that the Allies, confident of their power, were integrating their forces for a quick, decisive campaign.

Japs "Worst Enemies"

A special Soviet broadcast to the Far Eastern forces exhorted them to bend every effort to smash the Japanese "so that mankind can breathe freely after getting rid of aggression." It called the Japanese the "worst enemies of our people and all the peace-loving peoples of the world."

A Tokyo radio broadcast reported that members of the Dai Nippon Seiki, Japan's most influential political party, met on Thursday in an emergency session to discuss counter-measures against the Soviet attack. It was to present its view to the Japanese government and the high command on Friday.

In a congratulatory message to Stalin, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek predicted Russia's entry would hasten the "complete collapse" of the Japanese and bring about enduring peace in East Asia.

In London, Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten told a press conference that Russia's entry "most certainly" would speed up Japan's defeat. The Allied commander in southeast Asia said, however, that it would not interfere with plans for operations in his theater.

ping and other targets.

Halsey noisily announced his return to Japan's front door with blatan gun drills in enemy waters while the navy from Washington trumpeted to the Nipponese that the fleet was back after eluding a typhoon that forced it to break off the heavy strikes of July.

Associated Press Correspondent Al Dopping, with the fleet, said pilots were seeking out fields on which the enemy's air force, being saved to meet the expected invasion, might have sought refuge.

The first waves roared in over the northern Honshu cities of Koriyama, Masuda, Matsushima, Niigata, Sendai and Yabuki, along whose perimeters lie many of these air fields.

Other plants hit the vulnerable railway systems, ferreting out locomotives and pounding rolling stock and lines with bombs, rockets and machine-gun slugs. First reports also said two small Japanese ships were sunk and six others damaged.

SIXTY SHIPS BAGGED Manila, Friday, Aug. 10 (P) — Far East Air Force and Seventh Fleet planes in wide sweeps Tuesday and Wednesday destroyed or damaged more than 60 enemy ships and small craft and 47 planes, General MacArthur's headquarters announced today.

The blitz against the southern Japanese island of Kyushu roared on and planes rained ruin on factories, railroad installations and air strips.

The hunt for Japanese planes was the best for some time, with nine fighters and a bomber shot down and 37 other planes destroyed or damaged on the ground.

The communiqué reported 400 sorties by Far East planes Tuesday and 200 more in an incomplete tally of Wednesday's raids.

The heaviest concentration struck in successive waves Tuesday at Tsuiki airdrome on Kyushu's north coast, which has been a major navy air training center.

ASSAULT CONTINUES Guam, Friday, Aug. 10 (P) — U. S. and British carrier planes renewed their attacks on military targets on northern Honshu at dawn today—the second successive day of Admiral Halsey's return to the attack.

Admiral Nimitz' communiqué today reported battleships, cruisers and destroyers heavily bombarded industrial and military targets at Kamaishi, the steel city on the northeast Honshu coast yesterday.

Considerable damage was inflicted on installations at Kamaishi—first Japanese city shelled by warships, on July 14—Nimitz added.

Destroyers sank a small freighter transport and three small vessels. The Japanese countered with light anti-aircraft fire.

"Our forces suffered no casualties," Nimitz said.

The Japanese Kiki Maru, a hospital ship, enroute from Marcus Island to Yokosuka, in Tokyo Bay, was intercepted and boarded by the U. S. destroyer Cassin about 250 miles northwest of Marcus on Aug. 8. The boarding party found no violation of international conventions. After making proper inspection, the Cassin directed her to her destination.

But the possibilities of both those new elements "had been in our minds for many months," the secretary added. He said the test must be the number of men "which we believe may be needed for the complete defeat of Japan with the least possible loss of American lives."

Only Jap Hope Is Surrender, Truman Says

found to control it so as "to protect ourselves and the rest of the world from the danger of total destruction."

"The atomic bomb," Mr. Truman declared, "is too dangerous to be loose in a lawless world."

Military Bases Needed The president, renouncing for the United States any territorial gains or profits or selfish advantage from this war, made it plain, nevertheless, that this country intends to have the military bases "experts deem to be essential for our protection."

Those not now in our possession, he said, we will acquire under arrangements consistent with the United Nations charter.

Mr. Truman did not disclose what strategic areas he has in mind which this country does not already hold.

The United Nations, he asserted, are determined there shall be no next war because what is being done to Japan now "is only a small fraction of what would happen to the world in a third World War."

The desire for peace, the president said, was the guiding spirit at the Potsdam conference and at the San Francisco conference and "will be in the peace settlements to come."

Free Waterways Demanded He did not disclose in addition, that the United States pressed for "free and unrestricted navigation" of Europe's inland waterways. But the question was referred to a council of foreign ministers which the big three set up.

The United States intends to press for adoption of its suggestion in this council, the president said.

He mentioned the Danube river, the Black Sea Straits, the Rhine river, the Kiel Canal and "all of the inland waterways of Europe which border on two or more states."

(Turkey straddles the strategic Dardanelles, and Mr. Truman did not mention that passageway.)

Selfish control of waterways, the president said, has been one of the persistent causes of war in Europe.

Of Germany, Mr. Truman said: "We are going to do what we can to make Germany over into a decent nation, so that it may eventually work its way from the economic chaos it has brought upon itself, back into a place in the civilized world."

Bad Winter Ahead The purpose of reparations is, first, to take out of Germany everything with which she can prepare for another war, Mr. Truman said. The second, he said, is to help devastated countries recover by using German equipment and material.

Conceding that Poland had offered a difficult problem, the president indicated that the decision for a temporary western frontier for that nation was reached by compromise.

For Europe as a whole, the president foresaw distress in the coming winter.

"We must help to the limits of our strength," he said. "And we will."

For, he observed, desperate men might destroy the structure of their society. And if Europe goes cold and hungry, he said, we may lose some of the foundations of order on which the hope for world peace must rest.

Juvenile Books To Play Vital Role After War

BY MARION STRAHL
Children's books are scheduled to play a part in world peace plans, says Miss Siri Andrews, one of the country's outstanding experts on children's libraries and juvenile literature. A former Escanaban, Miss Andrews is visiting here at the Henry Peterson home, 317 South Seventh street, enroute from Seattle, Wash., to New York City, where she will become consultant on juvenile literature for Henry Holt & Co.

"We have learned a lesson from the nations which so successfully indoctrinated even their youngest children with Fascism and Nazism," Miss Andrews said. "To help accomplish the re-education of these peoples, a tremendous amount of juvenile literature will be translated and sent to occupied countries."

Books Replace Toys
The United States, which annually publishes more children's books than any other country, has experienced a tremendous war-time boom. Books have often replaced toys, which have been scarce. People have had more money to buy books, and children have become interested in reading more books. The war also has had an effect on children's taste in books.

SIRI ANDREWS

"Young people have demanded war stories, non-fiction, and factual material on airplanes, tanks, ships, preferably with photographic illustrations. Older children frequently read adult books, such as the narrative eye-witness accounts written by war correspondents," she said.

Miss Andrews feels that publishers of children's books have done a good job in avoiding atrocity stories, and have consciously refrained from publishing material which would create prejudice and hatred of other peoples.

Influence of Comics
When asked about the influence of comic books of the Superman variety, Miss Andrews laughed. "If I knew the answer to that, I would be Superwoman," she said. "Children who read them casually, along with a reasonable number of other books, don't seem to suffer any ill effects. We are more concerned about the child who reads them exclusively. Unfortunately, a few comic books are using material which is creating hatred of other nations and races. An attempt is being made to publish picture books of historical adventures similar to the comic book, and has met with some success."

Comic books are not an exclusive product of the United States. Miss Andrews reports that in Mexico City, she was amazed at the number of little Mexican children who were sitting about on curbstones pouring over the latest Spanish-language version of Buck Rogers.

Studied in Europe
Miss Andrews, who attended Escanaba high school, studied at the University of Wisconsin, Western Reserve University, New York University, and the University of Washington. She has held positions as children's librarian in the midwest and New York, and was an instructor at the library school at the University of Washington in Seattle. She has also conducted short courses in children's literature at summer schools in Connecticut and Vermont, and has been an instructor at Columbia University.

Before the war, she spent a year in England, France and Norway before going to Stockholm, Sweden, where she spent eight months in a children's library. During her stay there, she became interested in Swedish books for children, and translated seven of them into English. She has also translated Norwegian children's stories. "Swedish children's taste in books is very much like that of our children," Miss Andrews said. "They are all simply fascinated by stories of the American Indian."

WATER TANK RUST PROOFED

Electro Process Being Installed By Dayton Company

The Escanaba elevated water tank will be protected against corrosion by the installation of electro rust-proofing equipment, City Manager Art Aronson announced yesterday. A crew of workmen engaged by the Electro Rust Proofing Corporation of Dayton, Ohio, is now engaged in installing the equipment. The contract price is $783.

The inside of the tank will be painted except above the water level. Eight cathodes are being installed in the tank and a small charge of direct current passing through the cathodes and into the water will maintain a discharge of hydrogen iron film on the bare metal of the water tank. This method of rust proofing is regarded as vastly superior to painting, which protects only the surface of the metal. The process is the same as that used in electro plating of various metals.

More than 65 per cent of the elevated storage tanks in Michigan are protected against corrosion by this method, the Electro Rust Proofing Corporation revealed.

The equipment includes the cathodes, a rectifier to change the alternating current to direct current and a transformer to reduce the voltage from 110 volts to approximately 25 volts. The voltage

Losing the Gains

CIVIC organizations in Marinette are agitating for the establishment of a supervised recreational program in that city, while the War Memorial committee in Iron Mountain has approved a five-year playground development plan.

In other communities of the nation, elaborate plans are being made for extending "recreational programs through the building of "living memorials" in the form of parks, playgrounds, swimming pools, gymnasiums and other play centers. There is general recognition of the fact that something must be done to encourage the wise use of leisure time in the postwar era.

For many years, there was agitation in Escanaba for a recreational program. Finally, the hopes were realized with the creation of a well-financed municipal department, having supervision of parks, playgrounds and various play activities. Escanaba has been without a full-time recreational director for several months now, and so there is the danger that this city will be losing the gains it has made in this field in the past. If there was a need for a director several years ago, most certainly that need still exists today.

Escanaba's recreational department should be reorganized, given the leadership it needs, and put in readiness for the rapidly approaching time when service men and other will be returning home and looking for something to do.

Russia Declares War

RUSSIA'S declaration of war on Japan doubtless was equally as shocking to the enemy as the destruction wrought by the first atomic bomb dropped on Hiroshima. That the Moscow government intends to actively participate in the conflict was demonstrated when Russian planes immediately attacked strategic objectives on the eastern Manchuria border.

The former declaration of war should put at rest the criticisms, often heard in the past, that Russia would not assist her allies in the war with Japan. There never seemed to be any concern among high Allied leaders concerning the part Russia would play in the Pacific war, however, and apparently there was an official understanding in the matter all the time. Principal reason why Russia did not open her Siberian bases to us for an earlier attack upon Japan was that we had then no means of protecting or supplying them. Now that we have command of the sea and air around the Japanese homeland we can utilize Russian aid with advantage.

Russia's neutrality up to now served the Allied cause, nonetheless, for thousands of Japanese troops were immobilized on the Siberian border, troops that could have been used by the enemy in providing a better defense of Iwo Jima, Okinawa and other island outposts.

With Russia in the war on our side, it is certain that the victory over Japan will be hastened considerably with a great saving in American lives. It is quite probable that the Moscow declaration, coupled with the catastrophic destruction of Japanese cities by the new atomic bomb, will induce the Tokyo government to surrender within a very few weeks.

Speedy War Trials

AT LONG last machinery has been established for the trials of Germany's war criminals and there is hope now that trials will not be further delayed.

In the various occupation zones, the trials of small fry have proceeded with speed and quick justice. A number of Germans have been executed for murdering Allied soldiers, mainly fliers who bailed out of disabled airplanes. France has speeded the trials of collaborators and hundreds have been sentenced.

But the major war criminals of Germany—Goering, Hess, von Ribbentrop, von Papen, Ley, Streicher, Hans Frank and others of that breed—have not even been formally indicted and are still held in custody as prisoners of war rather than as accused criminals.

Now that the tribunal has been established, consisting of four members, one from each of the four major powers, and a plan has been formulated for mass trials of the criminals, it is to be hoped that there will be no further procrastinations in bringing these men to speedy justice.

It is reassuring to note that there will be no appeal from the decisions of the tribunal. This means that once a verdict has been made, the case is closed. Obviously sentences rendered by the court then may be carried out without further ado. If a war criminal is sentenced to death, as undoubtedly many of them will be, he will be executed forthwith and pronto, without the privilege of lengthy extensions of life pending appeal.

Housing Boom Coming

MUNISING has been given assurance that priorities for materials for the construction of 15 much-needed homes will be granted. Similar priorities were given to the city of Manistiquette some months ago, although actual building has not started there yet. The chief reason appears to be that the required materials are still hard to get even with priorities.

Throughout the country, there is a shortage of housing. Many families, who have been renting for some time, have their minds made up that they want a home of their own after the war. Lending encouragement to this fond desire is the fact that wartime wages and profits have enabled them to pile up war bonds and other forms of savings which will make financing of a home-building enterprise no problem at all.

Home construction alone will furnish much employment after the war. According to a housing report issued by Senator Taft of Ohio, America now has 27,000,000 non-farm dwelling units. Of these, 4,000,000 need major repairs; over 6,500,000 lack running water. In addition, there are 7,600,000 farm dwellings in the country.

Senator Taft estimates that more than 6,000,000 new homes are needed. Another senator, Wagner of New York, reports the National Housing Agency figures from 1,200,000 to 1,500,000 homes will be needed annually in each of the 10 postwar years.

But there are still many families who have not been able to set aside a nest egg of any worthwhile size for future home building. Federal housing projects likely will have to be undertaken to take care of such cases. It will be a problem that cannot be shunted aside. For years, housing was neglected in Britain, and played no small part in the recent political upheaval in which the Labor party emerged victorious. Incidentally, the housing situation is regarded even more critical in the United States.

FOREST FIRES IN OREGON (Milwaukee Journal)

Forest fires in Oregon have been burning for several weeks and appear to have destroyed brush and timber on lands extending over 125,000 acres.

Such fires, whether they burn in Oregon, Wisconsin nor elsewhere, suggest two things:

First, that they impoverish the whole nation. A country is "rich" as it abounds in natural resources. Money issued by a national treasury is not riches; it is but a token of riches. Gold in vaults is but a base for money. The real riches are in the energy and ingenuity of the people, and in the natural resources available to that energy and ingenuity.

Second, Americans have failed to appraise their natural resources at their true worth.

People will appraise correctly the potentialities of a foreign enemy and overcome the most difficult war created situations. Yet they haven't the interest to turn their ingenuity, with the same indomitable spirit, against forces that destroy the basic wealth lying at their very doors.

The people of the United States can, if they will, defeat the fire demon just as they are defeating the Axis. They can build organizations and machines that will stop any forest fire. They can perfect programs that will prevent nearly all fires. Why haven't they? Because they have never yet been as earnest about fires as they have been about the Germans and the Japs.

Any nation that would remain strong in this disturbed world must insure itself of a sufficient supply of natural resources. Weeks long forest fires are but one example of the fact that America is not thus assuring itself of national sufficiency and strength.

STEALING FROM STARVING PRISONERS (Milwaukee Journal)

The Red Cross food packages sent to Germany were a sacred trust when accepted by the enemy for distribution. The obligation assumed was to see that the packages were promptly delivered, intact, to our prisoners for their benefit and theirs alone.

Yet there is conclusive evidence now that violation of this trust was frequent and flagrant. About 9,000,000 packages, representing the deliveries for an eight month period, have been found in Germany. Some were stored, ceiling high, in the very prisons where starvation of prisoners was worst.

The actual delivery seems to have been governed very largely by the whim of various prison commandants and guards. Some released American prisoners report that Red Cross packages reached them promptly, and unopened. In other prisons, Americans got them irregularly, or got only some of the staple items in them. The "luxury" items like sweets, coffee concentrate and cigars had been removed. In many camps the prisoners received their packages but got little benefit from them because the contents had to be used for bribes to greedy guards for firewood, or blankets, clean water or some other necessity.

It was larceny or extortion or worse. It violated every rule of human decency and compassion. It flouted national integrity and international agreement.

And it adds another very black chapter to a very black book.

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington—When the Senate went home for a recess last week, a long list of unfinished business was left behind. By no means the least important item on this list, from the point of view of the senators themselves, was the question of senatorial pay and senatorial security.

Certain things have happened that set senatorial consciences to hurting. One member of the senate has not been present in the senate chamber for two years. His illness makes it highly improbable that he will ever again answer to a roll call.

This is Senator Carter Glass of Virginia. Partly because of the respect and esteem in which he is held in the senate, partly because of the cosy unwritten rules of what is sometimes called a rich man's club, Glass's long absence has been referred to only obliquely.

On one or two occasions when someone has sought to cast a vote for Glass, objection has been raised. The Virginia senator, a Wilsonian Democrat and firm believer in world organization, was, however, paired in favor of the charter when that historic vote was taken.

—FEW RICH SENATORS—

If the senate ever was a rich man's club, it certainly is not that today. There are a few rich senators, such as Senator Byrd of Virginia and Senator Murray of Montana, but they are the exception rather than the rule. That is why serious behind-the-scenes consideration is being given to a pension plan for members of Congress.

"We adopt social security for everybody else but congressmen," one senator said. "I guess we're supposed to be above such things. But I wish that people could know how hard it is to get by, and without any luxury spending either, on a congressional salary."

The kind of pension plan being talked about would apply after a first term. But it would increase substantially with successive terms.

It might or might not be contributory; that is, with deductions out of the member's pay. In any event, no effort would be made to put it on a sound actuarial basis, which would obviously be impossible if the pension is to be big enough to be of any real help. It would be frankly part of the compensation for high public office; for giving up a career or a business to come to Washington.

Under the constitution, there can be no compulsory retirement. But under a congressional pension plan, members might be eligible for a pension if they voluntarily retired after 65 or 70.

—JOHNSON COULDN'T RETIRE—
Senator Hiram Johnson of California, who has just died, would have been 79 years old in a few weeks. He had been so ill that for many months he was able to attend senate sessions only occasionally. Johnson spent almost his entire life in public service. For nearly 30 years he was a senator in Washington. While he might have liked to retire, his friends say that this would have been financially impossible.

When President Truman was running for vice president, it was brought out that Mrs. Truman was on the government payroll as a secretary in his office. Truman said that she was a good secretary and that the salary she received was necessary to make both ends meet in crowded, expensive Washington.

One way is now open for an ex-senator to get a small pension. If after he leaves congress he takes a civil service job with pension privileges and stays in that job a certain length of time, then his years in the senate are also counted in computing the amount he shall receive.

While he was chairman of the surplus property board, former Senator Guy Gillette hired an ex-senator and a former colleague as one of his secretaries to permit him to take advantage of this provision. At least one other ex-senator has resorted to the same device to get enough to live on.

In the richest country in the world, such a pathetic subterfuge should not be necessary. Former members of congress should be assured at least of a competence and the independence that goes with it. They would then be less likely to take high-pressure lobbying jobs when they retire. Congress ought to tend to its own social security as soon as it comes back from vacation.

an expression in Genesis 2, 18. The Lord, pondering Adam's loneliness, declared, "It is not good that the man should be alone. I will make him an help meet for him."

The word meet, in this passage, is an archaic adjective meaning, "suitable; fit; proper." Thus we see that the true sense of the verse is: "I will make for him a suitable helper."

Meet, in this meaning, is found elsewhere in the Bible, notably in Luke 15, 32: "It was meet (proper) that we should make merry."

Helpmate, a corruption of the corruption "helpmeet," is now the customary form, and it is the more logical, since it suggests a mate who is also a helper.

Q. What is the origin of the expression "pin money"?

A. In former days, pins were made by hand and cost as much as one dollar a dozen. Housewives, therefore, resorted to many expedients (as many still do) whereby money for the purchase of pins could be earned or could be wheedled from their sometimes tight-fisted spouses.

At one time in England, a husband was required by law to set aside a certain sum of pin money for his wife's exclusive use. And the quality of pins was prescribed by law (1543) thus: "No person shall put to sale any pinnes but only such as shall be double headed, and have the heads soldered fast to the shank of the pinnes, well smoothed, the shank well shapen, the points well and round filed, cauted and sharpened."

"Thanks, but What More Could You Offer Me?"

RECREATION — "Relaxation outdoors is more and more being looked upon as a needed integral segment of our everyday life. When restrictions on travel and work are removed the demand for such facilities will exceed anything we ever have seen and more than we now can conceive."

"The need for recreation lands is increasing and no one can deny that this need is now very great in the metropolitan areas." The above quotations from a report published by Conservation Director Hoffmaster in 1944 signaled the progressively expanded activity in the direction of acquiring recreational sites throughout the State for future development.

CONSIDERABLE AREAS — Delta, Marquette, and Alger counties have considerable areas of public ownership. The large Escanaba River Tract, the Cedar River and the Garden Peninsula Game Areas and the nearby Hiawatha National Forest will guarantee access for hunting. The problem of assuring access to many fishing waters however, is still with us. Au Train lake, Au Train basin, Lake Independence, Mountain, Ives, Conway, Pine, Silver Lake basin, Dead River storage basin, Michigamme, Deer and Teal are water bodies on which public ownership is not yet assured. The lower portion of the Escanaba river has only one small parcel in state ownership.

City, county and township water-side parks are an important factor in the public water front ownership.

The so-called 40c fishing license fund is being used to acquire more needed access spots.

Large areas being acquired from appropriated and game fund monies are the Southeastern Michigan and the Porcupines Mountain areas. Both of these provide fishing waters.

FISH STUDY—A fishing represents a large part of the vacation urge constant study and experimentation is carried on to learn the best method of providing the best possible results.

To improve fishing, that is to have more fish to keep, the most can be done by improving habitat (food and shelter). Quite the same is true with game birds and animals. The introduction or placing of birds, animals or fish on land or in water may serve a very important purpose in getting the species started or in accelerating its spread, but over a long period of time we must look to natural reproduction for an increase in their numbers.

The 1945 legislature empowered the conservation department to fix seasons, creel limits, and methods of taking fish on not to exceed twenty lakes and ten streams for the purpose of studying water yield, optimum fishing pressure and effects of planting. Much valuable information should be obtained from this study.

TROUT LAKES—The study of small, cold water lakes throughout the state for possible trout water continues.

Recently Schaawe lake on the Stonington Peninsula was studied. Investigators found an absence of oxygen below 15 feet which precludes the possibility of trout thriving. The decay of plant life in the lake causes the loss of oxygen in the lower layer of water.

Lakes in Marquette county added to the listed trout lakes by the 1945 legislature were Hoist and McClure storage basins, Squaw, Twin and Witch lakes. These lakes were found to meet the requirements for good trout waters.

Investigation of the claimed depredations by otter in our trout streams have largely been quieted by the reports of the investigation of otter stomachs taken in the years of 1940, 1941, and 1944. Investigators see no reason to fear the otter as a serious threat to trout.

POLLUTION—A major problem in the use of the state's water facilities is that of pollution. Some considerable gains have been made in this direction. In 1929 population found their way unmet and untreated to the Lakes and Streams. Today 15 out of 100 go to the surface waters untreated.

In the industrial field much progress has been made, much, however, remains to be done. The stream control commission investigates each report of pollution. Scott creek in Alger county is presently being investigated and corrective measures studied to eliminate present practices which effect the edibility of trout taken there.

With the improvements in water management which is in sight it is believed the added fishing pressure can be accommodated on the lakes to the extent that Angler success will be maintained or improved. The outlook for stream fishing, represented by trout, is not so optimistic although some additional trout fishing will be provided by the trout lakes and small impoundments on streams made by erection of dams.

HUNTING SAFETY—Accidents connected with hunting and fishing are likely to become more numerous in the post-war period as such activities increase. To promote safe practices the department will issue shortly, placards to be posted at boat liversies, resorts, etc., listing precautionary measures. Twelve conservation officers have been attending schools of instruction in gun safety at Roscommon the past three weeks. These officers will train other department personnel who will carry the training to schools and Sportsman's organizations. Assistant District Supervisor Paul Challancin is representing the Escanaba district at the school.

What do you want to know? We will answer questions on any subject not involving extended research. Legal or medical advice cannot be given. Write your question clearly, sign your name and address, and (IMPORTANT) MAIL THE COUPON and a 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope to THE ESCANABA DAILY PRESS SERVICE BUREAU, 1217 Thirteenth St., Washington 5, D. G. I. SERVICE
Q. Will the honorably discharged serviceman of World War II receive any more money than the $300 mustering-out pay?

A. The maximum amount of mustering-out pay at the present time is $300. If the serviceman is discharged with a disability incurred in line of duty he may be eligible for a pension.

Q. My brother was married just two weeks before he went overseas and now he has been killed. My mother has received a form to file for six months' gratuity pay, but there is a slip attached which says not to complete it if the soldier left a widow. Is she entitled to this benefit when they were married such a short time?

A. The six months' gratuity pay goes to the lawful widow of a soldier regardless of the length of their marriage or any previous designation of beneficiary the soldier may have made.

Q. Is it possible for a serviceman to make his national service life insurance payable to his father with no provisions for his wife and child?

A. The serviceman may designate as beneficiary for his insurance any of the persons in the following group: Wife, child, parent, brother or sister.

OF GENERAL INTEREST
Q. What is the size of Ruthonia which has been transferred from Czechoslovakia to the Soviet Union?

A. Its area is about the size of Connecticut with a mixed population of 700,000 persons; half of its people are Ruthenians.

Q. Did the month of August ever have only 30 days?

A. Not since it has been named August. When Julius Caesar revised the calendar, he changed the name of the 31-day month Quintilis to "Julius," now known as July. Later, the Roman Senate chose to honor Augustus, successor to Julius Caesar, and changed the name of the 30-day month Sextilis to "Augustus," now known as August. However, not to be outdone by his predecessor, Augustus ordered that one day be subtracted from the already-shortened February and added to August, giving the latter 31 days. And in order that three 31-day months should not be grouped together, the 31st day of September was ordered changed to October 31, November to 30, and December to 31 days, which values have remained.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Q. I want to clean the inside of the collar of my spring coat. The coat is not soiled enough to send to the cleaner. Can I do it at home?

A. Use either carbon tetrachloride or soap and water. Place the soiled place on an absorbent pad and brush it to remove the dust and dirt. Then brush the spot lightly with the cleaning agent, using a small portion at a time. Using too much with each application causes the soil to run down into the garment in streaks. Dry the spot after each application, remembering that many short applications are more effective than one long continued operation. Work rapidly. Rinse the soiled place well with tepid water.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington—Those who sat in on the drafting of JCS 1067, the blueprint for governing Germany, say that it was one of the most carefully conceived plans ever prepared by government agencies. The army, navy, state department, treasury and foreign economic administration all participated.

Their aim was to draft a set of rules which would stamp out Nazism and make sure that never again could Germany plunge the world into war.

What now concerns some of these officials is that several cardinal points in the blueprint for occupied Germany are being ignored by military men. This may be due to military expediency, or to the softpate crowd in the war department, or to plain ignorance of the rules. That is one reason why publication of the rules has been urged, so that every American soldier in Germany shall know them.

For instance, the order for occupied Germany specifies that the foreign assets of German cartels shall be seized by the U. S. army. But when Gen. Lucius Clay wired the war department proposing the seizure of I. G. Farben assets in Argentina and Switzerland, the war department, ignoring the blueprint, said no.

Again the blueprint for occupied Germany provides that no munitions plants shall operate. But the U. S. army has given permission for a German hydrogen peroxide plant to make fluid for U. S. buzz-bombs, while the Ford plant at Cologne is making trucks for the U. S. army. While these are for the United States, officials here point out that the army has a tremendous surplus of trucks, and that if we didn't need the hydrogen peroxide for a two-front war, we don't need it now for one front.

It was the building up of German industry after the last war, they emphasize, partly to pay reparations, partly through the connivance of American-British industrialists, which paved the way for Hitler's amazing war capacity in this war.

These are some of the reasons why this columnist believes that the American people, who contributed so much to defeat Germany, have a right to know the rules by which Germany is to be kept defeated. Publication of the carefully drafted and thoroughly approved blueprint for governing Germany was begun yesterday. Other pertinent portions follow today:

—EDUCATION—

"A. All educational institutions within your zone except those previously re-established by Allied authority will be closed. The closure of Nazi educational institutions such as Adolf Hitler Schulen, Napolas and Ordensburgen, and of Nazi organizations within other educational institutions will be permanent.

"B. A coordinated system of control over German education and an affirmative program of reorientation will be established designed completely to eliminate Nazi and militaristic doctrines and to encourage the development of democratic ideas.

"C. You will permit the reopening of elementary (Volksschulen), middle (Mittelschulen), and vocational (Berufsschulen) schools at the earliest possible date after Nazi personnel has been eliminated. Textbooks and curricula which are not free of Nazi and militaristic doctrine shall not be used. The control council should devise programs looking toward the reopening of secondary schools, universities and other institutions of higher learning.

—GERMAN STANDARD OF LIVING—

"You will estimate requirements of supplies necessary to prevent starvation or widespread disease or such civil unrest as would endanger the occupying forces. Such estimates will be based upon a program whereby the Germans are made responsible for providing for themselves, out of their own work and resources. You will take all practicable economic and police measures to assure that German resources are fully utilized and consumption held to the minimum in order that imports may be strictly limited and that surpluses may be made available for the occupying forces and displaced persons and United Nations prisoners of war, and for reparation.

"You will take no action that would tend to support basic living standards in Germany on a higher level than that existing in any one of the neighboring United Nations when such measures will contribute to raising the standards of any such nation." (The French and Belgians already claim that occupied Germany is more prosperous than they.)

—LABOR, HEALTH, AND SOCIAL INSURANCE—

"You will permit the self-organization of employees along democratic lines, subject to such safeguards as may be necessary to prevent the perpetuation of Nazi or militarist influence under any guise, or the continuation of any group hostile to the objectives and operations of the occupying forces.

"You will permit free collective bargaining between employees and employers regarding wage, hour and working conditions and the establishment of machinery for the settlement of industrial disputes. Collective bargaining shall be subject to such wage, hour and other controls, if any, as may be instituted or revived by your direction.

ProprietorsHelen Lou Peterson
And Lowell Farrell
Marry In Escanaba

Culminating a romance begun six years ago in high school was the marriage of Miss Helen Lou Peterson, daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Loren Jenkins, 800 South Eleventh street, to Cpl. Lowell Farrell, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Farrell, who recently returned from duty overseas. The marriage took place at St. Patrick's church Monday, at eight in the morning with Rev. Fr Norbert Freiburger officiating.

The bride chose for her wedding a gold suit highlighted by brown accessories. Her corsage of two Catalina orchids, rare and beautiful flowers, was a gift from her uncle, John Nolden of Los Angeles, Cal. Her sister, Marjorie Peterson, who was her only attendant, wore a chocolate brown suit complimented by light rose accessories and a corsage of roses.

Best man was Robert Gray of the Merchant Marine service.

Mendelsohn's Wedding March started the ceremony and St. Patrick's choir sang the nuptial high mass. Soloist was Helen Bink who sang "Ave Marie." The church was decorated with garden flowers.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Jenkins wore a navy blue and white suit dress and had a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. Farrell chose a black dress and white carnations for a corsage.

Before the wedding breakfast and after the ceremony a small reception for members of the two families was held at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Nick Bink. The house was barked in garden flowers.

Following the reception, 24 guests attended a wedding breakfast at the Dells. Decorating scheme was in a Colonial motif, with Colonial corsages of flowers and lace at each place and a large Colonial basket of garden flowers flanked by white candles for a centerpiece. On a separate table covered with ferns near the bride was the three tiered wedding cake between two tall white towers.

Following the breakfast the bride and groom left on a wedding trip to Milwaukee and points south, the bride choosing as a going-away costume a powder blue suit accented by brown accessories.

Mrs. Farrell is a graduate of Escanaba high school and attended Louisiana college, Alexandria, La. The groom graduated from Escanaba high school and has been in France until recently. He is now on a 30-day furlough, after which he reports for reassignment.

Out-of-town guests included Marjorie Peterson, Evanson, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. Rick Hayden, Appleton, Wis.

Canning Sugar
Needed To Save
Big Peach Crop

Lansing—Blessed with the prospect of a "bumper" peach crop, Michigan orchardists, nevertheless may suffer financial disaster on the fruit as a result of the shortage of canning sugar, according to Minard E. Farley, Jr., secretary of the Michigan State Apple Commission.

Therefore, with the Office of Price Administration only able to provide housewives with an additional five pounds of sugar for canning against the usual 15, fruit growers, home economists and others interested are urging the women to can without sugar or with reduced amounts. OPA authorities state that dealer stocks are sufficient to provide those certified with the five pounds.

"This year's peach crop is abundant, the peaches are well-grouped on the trees, and, as a result of conditions which prevailed at the time of pollination, required little thinning," Mr. Farley said. "They are above average in quality, too," he added.

"Fruit growers throughout the state have been counting on this good crop to recoup losses experienced from poor cherry and apple yields, but it looks as though they may be disappointed unless housewives will can without sugar," Mr. Farley explained.

It has been conservatively estimated that total peach yield for the state will run in the neighborhood of 2,600,000 bushels. This is above the ten-year average for Michigan. On the other hand, apples were only 14 per cent of the 7,625,000 bushel crop of last year; 1945 sour cherry returns were 8,800 tons against 50,000 last year; and sweet cherries, 500 this year and 4,600 in 1944.

OPA Office In Escanaba Will Move To Green Bay

The Escanaba and Saginaw district offices of the Office of Price Administration will be discontinued on Sept. 15 and their functions taken over by the Green Bay, Wis., and Detroit headquarters, Chester Bowles, OPA administrator, announced in Washington yesterday. The consolidations are being made to effect economies in the administration of the agency, Bowles explained.

The Upper Peninsula district office, employing about 45 persons, was moved from Iron Mountain to Escanaba two years ago. A considerable per cent of the employees will be given an opportunity to transfer to other offices.

Efforts are being made, however, to induce OPA to retain the district office in Escanaba in whole or in part. Letters have been sent to Rep. Fred Bradley and others, pointing out that more savings will be realized by maintaining a small staff in the present Escanaba office. It is contended this would eliminate long travel distances and give the Upper Peninsula people better service on their numerous OPA problems than if the entire office were moved to Green Bay.

Bowles' Explanation
Explaining the contemplated move, Administrator Bowles made the following statement:

"Congress when it appropriated $174,500,000 for our activities in the 1946 fiscal year, cut $12,430,000 from our requested budget. This eliminated the amount we had requested to do a more effective enforcement job and made no provision for the extra staff needed for reconversion pricing. The action taken, in effect, means that our reconversion pricing program and strengthening of our enforcement effort must be provided for by adjustments in our present organization. As an absolute minimum, these new tasks will require 1,500 people. We have carefully explored the various possibilities for economies to pay the costs of these needed people.

"In addition to this problem, all Government employees in the so-called 'classified service' were given an increase of 15 percent in basic pay by an Act of Congress rendered by each district office and selected for elimination those which can be closed with the least disruption of necessary service to business and the public. This analysis has led to the decision to close the Escanaba and Saginaw offices.

"The Escanaba and Saginaw district offices will be consolidated with the Green Bay and Detroit District offices respectively. We believe these offices will be able to function without substantial inconvenience to the public. Twenty-four States already are operated with a single district office, including such a densely populated State as Indiana. In reducing the number of district offices, we are moving toward having one district office for each State. A large percent of the employees of the Escanaba and Saginaw offices will be given an opportunity to transfer to other offices."

Botolf Norberg 21
Years Ago

Edgar D. Robare, serving a life sentence in the Marquette branch state prison following his conviction 21 years ago for the murder of Botolf Norberg of Manistique, has asked that his case be reopened.

A motion to set aside the verdict was filed Thursday afternoon with County Clerk Leslie G. Bouschor and a copy served on Prosecuting Attorney William Sheahan. Robare is represented by a Detroit firm of attorneys. A similar plea was heard in the January term of circuit court and was promptly denied by Judge Herbert Rannels.

Robare and Oscar Settergren, both of Manistique, were convicted of murder of Norberg, a dairyman living just outside of Manistique on Highway M-94, Norberg, who lived alone, was found bludgeoned to death in his home late in 1923.

Clues pointed to murder with robbery as the motive. Settergren, arrested as a suspect, confessed and involved Robare, whose conviction followed.

The case, being of a sensational nature, was featured in a number of detective magazines.

CHANGES MADE AT LIBRARY

New Arrangement Will Separate Patrons
From Students

After closing Monday and Tuesday to allow for its semi-annual renovation, the Manistique library reopened Wednesday for its regular vacation hours, week-days, 2 to 5 o'clock, plus evening hours of 6 to 8 o'clock on Fridays.

Extensive changes have been made in the library arrangements during the summer months with the object of making the library particularly attractive to its adult patrons. Many of these have felt in the past that they were intruding if they asked for library service during school hours. It is now possible for them to read or obtain books without mingling with the students.

The former rental library is now available to all without charge.

Without Painful Backache
Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

York Sparks Tigers To 11-5 Victory; Braves Set Back Cubs, 7-3

RUDY HITS TWO 2-RUN HOMERS

Trout Coasts After He Gets 10-3 Lead In Fourth Inning

BY FRANK KENESSON
Detroit, Aug. 9 (P)—Rudy York sparked a 15-hit Detroit attack with a pair of two-run homers as the Tigers walloped the Boston Red Sox 11 to 5 today to maintain their one-game American league lead over Washington.

York's two circuit clouts, his eighth and ninth of the season, came on successive times at bat in successive innings. Hank Greenberg, who was on second with a double, scored ahead of York in the third and Roy Cullenbine, who had singled, scored on the big first basemen's fourth-inning homer into the upper deck in left field.

Detroit overcame a 3-2 Boston lead by chasing starter Emmett O'Neill with a four-run assault in the third and came right back to score four more runs off relief pitcher Clem Hausmann in the fourth.

Paul (Dizzy) Trout went the distance for his 10th victory, giving 10 hits, one of them Leon Culberson's first homer.

Catcher Shaken Up
Hank Greenberg, with two doubles, and Ed Borom, with a double and a pair of singles, provided York's chief batting assistance in Detroit's 11-run outburst. Every Tiger but Shortstop Joe Hoover hit safely at least once.

Trout, coasting along after he was given a 10-3 lead in the fourth, walked three men and fanned six.

Billy Holm, Boston catcher, collided with Trout, who was fielding his second inning bunt, and retired from the game in the fifth because of the shakeup.

Eddie Lake, Boston shortstop, provided most of Boston's attack with two doubles, a single and a walk in four official times at bat.

Les Mueller, Detroit side-arm, was expected to draw the pitching assignment for tomorrow's single game, opposing either Randy Hefflin or George Woods of the Red Sox. Another single game Saturday winds up the five-game series.

Twin Bill Swept By Dodgers Over Reds, 9-2 and 4-3
Brooklyn, Aug. 9 (P)—Brooklyn swept both ends of a doubleheader from the Cincinnati Reds today before 20,260 paying fans, copping the opener 9-2 behind Art Herring and taking the nightcap 4-3 on a twelfth-inning pinch single by Babe Herman.

Rookie Ralph Branca hooked up with Howard Fox in a tight pitcher's battle in the second tilt with the Dodger recruit allowing only six hits and striking out 11 Reds.

Luis Olmo opened the third overtime frame with a single and Bordagaray, batting for Mike Sandlock, drew an intentional pass. Eddie Basinski hit for Tom Brown, forcing Olmo at third, but Herman came to the plate instead of Branca and lashed a single to left that broke up the game.

The Sports Parade

By Ken Gunderman

The professional football teams will face hard going financially if the so-called non-championship games are stricken from their schedules because of ODT regulations. At least a half million dollars in revenue will be lost. The ODT has declined to authorize the playing of those games, although it has agreed to "reconsider" later. This is taken to mean that permission may be granted if the war in the Pacific should end soon, taking the pressure off the redeployment schedule.

The Green Bay Packers, defending champions in the National pro football league, opened their practice sessions yesterday, three weeks before the grid classic with the College All Stars at Chicago. Twenty-seven players are under contract, the latest being End Joel Mason, a native of Stambaugh.

Fishing Only Fair Throughout State

Fair to good fishing for pike, bass and panfish was reported in Baraga, Houghton, Gogebic and Ontonagon counties of the upper peninsula, good catches were reported in inland lakes of these counties.

Pike fishing was slowed in Luce and Schoolcraft counties but fishing on inland lakes in the eastern upper peninsula was good, the department said.

WOMAN HANGS SELF IN JAIL

Alura Pierce, 42, Takes Own Life; Held For Vagrancy

Alura Pierce, 42 of Oneonta, N. Y., committed suicide at the Delta county jail yesterday by hanging herself from a bathroom door. She was found dead by jail attendants about noon and apparently had been dead several hours.

The woman was arrested in Gladstone August 4 by state police on a vagrancy charge and was being held for investigation.

She left a note, apparently intended for a brother who was reported enroute to Escanaba from New York, in which she revealed a premonition of death. There was no indication in the note, however, that she had planned to take her own life.

The rope with which she hanged herself had been used to dry clothes in an upstairs bathroom at the county jail.

When attendants brought the woman's breakfast to her yesterday morning, it was believed that she was sleeping. Several hours later when lunch was brought to the woman's cell, it was learned that the previous meal had not been consumed. An investigation disclosed the suicide.

The body was taken to the Degnan funeral home. The woman was born in Oneonta, N. Y., October 28, 1902. She told local authorities that she was a school teacher.

Menominee — Two Marinette industries, a new one and an old one, last night bid for the city street car barn on City Court and the council labeled the matter for 30 days.

Action was started when the Badger Manufacturing company, Marinette's newest firm, asked council to give it a two-year lease at $75 a month with option to purchase the building for $10,648.

The Badger firm has been in the building for several months and M. J. Howison, plant manager, said the firm had spent $6,500 in repairs and remodeling.

How Long

before you'll get your new car?

AUTHORIZED industry-wide manufacturing quotas indicate comparatively few new cars will be available this year. And it is expected that strict priority rationing will continue until all essential needs are met.

••• The New York Times says: "Since the interest of the nation requires that every possible car be kept in service, continued, careful maintenance and conservation of existing cars is imperative."

••• So, when your present Ford needs attention—and it will, as it grows older—let us help you keep it rolling—as only your Ford Dealer knows how! We have genuine Ford replacement parts and adequate equipment. Our mechanics know your car best.

••• We pledge you the very best service possible. Let us help you get all the "extra" miles that Ford built into your car. By all means, bring it "HOME" for service!
